Description

A fine and elegant Arts & Crafts Edwardian oak hall stand, stamped by the renowned maker G.W. Evans, dating to the early 20th century. Crafted in solid golden oak, this hall stand displays the restrained proportions and honest construction characteristic of the Arts & Crafts movement. The tall, slender form features a shaped top section fitted with original iron coat hooks, a central umbrella rack, and a drip tray at the base, making it both highly practical and visually striking. The warm oak patina has developed beautifully over time and remains in very good original condition. The maker's stamp "G.W. Evans" is a particularly desirable feature, confirming its authenticity and quality of manufacture. G.W. Evans pieces are increasingly sought after for their craftsmanship and clean, timeless design.
