Description

A charming late 19th-century provincial farmhouse table constructed entirely in solid pine. Featuring a generously proportioned planked top with softly rounded corners, raised on elegant turned legs, and retaining a two single end drawers with original wooden knob. The table has been stripped back at some point, revealing a beautifully pale, honest surface with all the character and wear you would expect from a well-used country piece. The surface shows old marks, knocks and gentle wear, adding to its authenticity and rustic appeal. Robust and versatile, this table works equally well as a kitchen table, island, prep table or desk. Condition: Good antique condition with age-related wear throughout. Structurally sound. Extra Dimensions: Knee height: 59.5 cm
