Description

This is a very special piece of furniture. When we first saw this incredible washstand, our first impression was that it was a brand new, unused, reproduction piece of furniture! Upon closer inspection we realised that it was actually around 125 years old & has never been really used never mind abused! It is in immaculate original condition! Edwardian quality at its finest! It is actually an early 20th century mahogany and satinwood washstand or hall table. This lovely piece has a mottled marble top over a single drawer base with tapering legs and brass castors. A stylish, functional and adaptable piece of furniture that would be a great addition to your home. Please see our other listings for more antique, retro and vintage furniture. Working height 77cm
