Description

A good Victorian oak desk dating from the late 19th Century. It has an arrangement of 9 drawers around a central kneehole. Each drawer has turned wooden knobs and each pedestal has a plinth base with castors below. The top of the desk has a good quality green leather writing surface with a gold tooled edge. It is a good quality piece and the oak has a lovely warm golden colour. The molding on the desk continues on all 4 sides meaning that the back looks nicely finished so it could be used as a freestanding piece as well as against a wall. The desk splits into three parts for transport. It is a particularly good size with plenty of room under the kneehole for sitting comfortably. The desk is in good condition for its age and has been well looked after. It has a lovely patina and the drawers open well. The inside of the drawers are generally clean and tidy. There are some normal signs of age and use, some minor knocks and light surface marks, a few small repairs around the bottom of the pedestals and a couple of the knobs have been replaced but overall it displays very well and it is a good tidy piece of furniture. The desk has been gently cleaned and polished and is re...
