Description

A beautiful early 20th century dressing table mirror, crafted in warm walnut veneer with elegant proportions and classic understated detailing. The mirror is mounted on a solid base with three small drawers, ideal for jewellery, accessories or personal items. The piece retains its original mirror plate, offering clear reflection with only light age related signs, and comes complete with its original working key, a lovely and increasingly rare detail. Compact yet characterful, this mirror works perfectly on a dressing table, chest of drawers or sideboard, adding both function and period charm to a bedroom or dressing area. Very good antique condition. The structure is solid and stable. The wood shows minor age related marks and gentle wear consistent with use over time, visible in the photographs. The mirror glass is in very good condition for its age, with no cracks or significant damage. Drawers run smoothly. Key included.
