Description

An absolutely mesmerising antique diamond engagement ring. The old mine cut in the centre has been graded as K colour - but tops up much whiter due to the stone's fluorescence - and is internally very clean: VVS1. The diamond is secured by four pairs of double claws set at the compass points, with ornate scroll work in the gallery which leads to a slim 18k yellow gold shank. Accompanied by a diamond grading report from WGL. Cut: Old mine cut. Colour: K. Clarity: VVS1. Carat: 0.87. Circa: 1910. Measurements: The diamond is 5.68 x 5.55mm and sits 6.05mm from the finger. Weight: 2.36 grams. Metal: 18k gold. Tested with a Niton DXL Precious Metal Analyzer.
