Description

This vintage 18ct white gold ring features a captivating Art Deco revival design from the 1960s. The circular face is arranged in a geometric spiral pattern, centring on a single brilliant-cut diamond surrounded by radiating channels of calibre-cut rubies and pavé-set diamonds. The contrast of vivid red and crisp white gemstones gives this piece a bold yet refined appearance, typical of mid-century craftsmanship inspired by the glamour of the 1920s. A distinctive design that reflects both artistry and sophistication. Part of our vintage ruby ring collection.
