Description

Stunning Late 19th / Early 20th-Century Japanese Bronze Vase — Signed An exceptional late 19th to early 20th-century Japanese bronze vase of impressive weight and presence, showcasing superb craftsmanship and a richly developed patina. The surface is decorated with deeply raised, finely cast floral and vine motifs that display remarkable depth, movement, and detail throughout. The vase has a wonderfully tactile quality, with the heavy bronze enhancing both its sculptural form and visual impact. To the underside, it is clearly stamped with the letters "KT" within a square, alongside a series of Japanese characters forming the maker's signature. A highly decorative and collectable piece, offering both aesthetic beauty and historical interest—ideal as a statement interior object or for the discerning collector of Japanese metalwork.
