Description

A pretty late 19th century French side cabinet, nightstand or bedside table, with marble top. One single drawer and one door opening on the original marble lined interior. Well constructed and sturdy this gracious bedside cabinet shows a lovely shaped marble top of a great colour in the terracotta tone. There is an almost not imperceptible fessure in the top that we tried to show with an image. Standing on four carved cabriole legs, this nightstand is embellished by various details from the apron which connects to the legs to the quartered veneer on the door and left and right sides. Circa 1890-1900. Condition: sturdy and general good conditions commensurate with age and use.
