Description

This is a most stunning "Art Deco" ring This would make the most perfect ring for a lover of the Art Deco period. Someone who loves the design ... without excessive flamboyance. The ring is clearly marked for platinum, the central Natural Diamond measures a minimum of .33ct. The reason I state minimum is because the stone has not been removed from the mount to measure, and it is a deep stone. The stepped shoulders are further embellished with baguette cut bright sapphires in total four graduated stones which catch the light and compliment the very bright , brilliant cut central diamond, which really radiates the light. The whole settings are surrounded by millegrain effect. This is a truly remarkable ring At some point it has been resized and it now measures almost K
