Description

1950s Pearl and Diamond Ring in 18ct White Gold A striking and elegant vintage pearl and diamond ring dating to the 1950s, crafted in 18ct white gold and designed in a graceful crossover style typical of the period. At the centre sits a generously proportioned cultured pearl, displaying a soft silvery-white tone with a beautiful, even lustre. The pearl is embraced by two flowing white gold curves, each set with a line of sparkling diamonds that add light, movement and refinement to the design without overwhelming the central stone. The ring is designed to sit comfortably on the finger despite its presence, rising proudly above the shank and creating a confident yet wearable statement. Elegant, sculptural and unmistakably mid-century, this ring would make a wonderful cocktail ring or a distinctive alternative engagement ring. The ring is in exceptional condition and is presented in the box illustrated. Details Pearl: Cultured pearl, approx. 8.5mm Pearl colour: Silvery white with excellent lustre Diamonds: Twelve small accent diamonds set to crossover shoulders Metal: 18ct white gold (marks worn, tests as 18ct) Maker's initials: HJG Ring height: approx. 9.5mm above the ...
