Description

George I Style Mahogany Chest on Stand – Serpentine Front, Brass Handles

George I Style Mahogany Chest on Stand An elegant George I style mahogany chest on stand, inspired by early 18th-century English furniture and beautifully proportioned with a classic serpentine front. Crafted in richly figured mahogany, this piece showcases a deep, warm patina that highlights the natural grain and enhances its refined appearance. The chest features graduated long drawers with fine cockbeading, each fitted with ornate brass swing handles and central escutcheons. Raised on a separate stand with shaped apron and gracefully cabriole legs, the design reflects the sophistication and balance associated with the George I period, while remaining highly practical for modern use. This chest on stand makes an impressive statement piece, ideal for a bedroom, dressing room, or hallway, combining generous storage with timeless Georgian elegance.

Key Features • George I style chest on stand • Fine mahogany construction with rich grain and patina • Elegant serpentine front • Graduated long drawers with cockbeaded edges ...
