Description

An attractive Edwardian mahogany glazed display cabinet of narrow proportions, with a shaped rear upstand over a rectangular crossbanded and line-inlaid top, above a dentil-style band in contrasting inlay. Below, a single glazed door with applied mouldings opens to a shelved interior, all raised on slender tapering legs. A practical cabinet well suited to a sitting room, hall or landing and ideal for displaying ceramics, silver or small objects, with a modest footprint and useful height for a lamp or decorative piece. Very good antique condition with light surface wear consistent with age. Structurally sound, clean and ready to place in the home. Working lock supplied with single key. English, circa 1910.
