Description

The Elegance of the Art Deco Era — Pearl and Diamond Earrings from the 1920s A superb and elegant pair of antique pearl and diamond drop earrings dating to the Art Deco period of the 1920s, finely handcrafted in 18ct white gold and displaying the clean geometry and refined glamour so characteristic of the era. Each earring is designed with a small diamond-set stud at the top, from which a delicately tapered white gold drop is suspended. This central element is set with sparkling diamonds, framed by fine millegrain detailing, and finished with a luminous pearl drop below. The pearls display a soft creamy-silver tone with a deep, gentle lustre, adding warmth and movement to the crisp diamond-set framework above. Beautifully balanced and light on the ear, these earrings are designed to sit elegantly and move subtly when worn, making them as wearable today as they were a century ago. Dating from the height of the Jazz Age, they are offered in excellent original condition and are supplied in their original leather tooled, velvet-lined presentation box illustrated — a rare and charming survival. A truly graceful and evocative pair of Art Deco earrings. Details Period:...
