Description

The pair of English carver chairs you see, are of excellent quality and date to the 1830s. Their design emanates strength and status - they would be a perfect fit if you are looking for a pair of chairs for your partner's desk, additional chairs for your dining table or to act as side chairs. These multi-functional carvers are comfortable and supportive, with generous-sized seats. They have been previously restored to a high standard, upholstered in black leather, and finished with brass studding. A superior pair of period chairs. The seat width is 42.5 cm, and they are 47 cm deep.
