Description

This fine pair of small 1920s marble-topped wall-mounted demi-lune tables are both highly decorative and practical. Perfect for today's interiors. The original marble for their tops has been particularly well chosen for its visual appeal, and to complement the mahogany used to construct their elegant ormolu-decorated bases. They have both been sensitively restored. We also have improved upon the original way in which these tables were designed to be hung. A template will accompany them, so they can be fixed to the wall with ease.
