Description

A quality Regency period sideboard crafted in rich mahogany, featuring elegant ebony inlay to the top and drawer fronts. The drawer configuration comprises two short drawers on the right and one deep drawer on the left, originally designed for bottle storage. Retaining its original brass lion mask handles, the piece stands on finely turned and fluted legs with twisted reeded decoration, showcasing the craftsmanship typical of the early 19th century. It has developed a good, warm patina, highlighting the age and quality of the timber.
