Description

19th Century Tall Decorated Eastern Lacquered Tapering Vase A highly decorative nineteenth-century Eastern lacquered tapering vase on a turned base, beautifully enriched with inlaid and sgraffito decoration covering the entire body, which almost sparkles when hit by light. The craftsmanship is enhanced by a rich red lacquered stem and lower cupped bowl mounted upon the turned stem, creating a striking contrast with the exterior decoration. The vase/ornament, which may have once had a small lid/cover, stands on a pedestal foot, giving the piece added presence and elegance. Condition: There are minor losses in places, consistent with age and use, but these do not detract from the overall decorative appeal. Dimensions: Height: 35.3 cm Diameter: 8 cm Notes: A visually striking and characterful example of nineteenth-century Eastern lacquerware. We are also offering a vase with very similar decoration in a separate listing—please look out for it.
