Description

Antique 20th century Art Nouveau style dresser in oak, a highly attractive and well-crafted piece with elegant period design. The upper section features three open shelves alongside a small glazed cabinet, complete with beautiful stained lead glass that adds colour and character. The base section offers a practical layout, with a blind door cupboard to the left, an open shelf to the centre, and two drawers to the right, all retaining their original brass handles and fittings. The dresser is stood on turned legs with a supporting stretcher, giving both stability and visual appeal. Displaying gorgeous oak grain and warm colour throughout, this dresser is very well made and of good quality. In good condition and very desirable, it comes apart into two sections for ease of transport. A stylish and functional piece, it would make a perfect addition to any home.
