Description

Oil on canvas on board showing horse pulling a hay tuner and initialed WW - Winifred Wilson (1882 - 1973) mounted in a stunning painted wooden frame. There is a small piece of the frame missing which I have left so easy to see but can blend in. Wilson was a painter in oil and a farmer by occupation, she studied art privately with Sir John Arnesby Brown. She went on to exhibit widely in the English provinces, and at the RA, ROI, at the Paris Salon and in America. The Graves Art Gallery, Sheffield, holds her work. She was a sister of the painters May and Violet Wilson. Lived at Barlow, near Sheffield. Her style is very free and her palette is fresh.
