Description

An 18th century marine oil on oak panel, in the manner of George Morland. The painting depicts a shipping scene, possibly off the coast of Kent. The landscape is brilliantly painted and would benefit from a professional clean as it is very dirty. There is a small area of damage to the top left hand corner of the oak board (missing, please see pictures), however this is not noticeable in the frame. The moulded frame is veneered in maple, with a moulded silver gilt slip set within. A wonderful painting for any collection. Measurements: Height 37cm x width 44.5cm x 3cm Sight size ; Height 23.7cm x Width 31.5cm
