Description

This is an excellent and complete leather-cased spirit flask set, which includes two graduated beakers or cups for field use. The two beakers nest together snugly, and the glass flask with its star-cut base and bayonet-closing cap fits neatly inside them. The cap bears marks identifying the maker as James Dixon & Sons, as well as their bugle and banner logo, though the beakers lack any hallmarks. The case itself, made from patinated hide, boasts a rich colour and comes with its original over-shoulder strap and adjustable buckle—both in very good condition and still fully functional. The initials "EHW" are engraved on both beakers, the spirit flask cap, and the carrying case. Period: circa 1880 Size. 21cm x 10cm max Diameter.
