Description

A finely crafted early 20th century, likely made in Britain around 1920s, originally intended for use by a jeweller or watchmaker. Compact and portable in form, this chest is built in the campaign style, with robust brass corner strapping and flush-mounted campaign handles. The front panel doors open to reveal three shallow internal drawers, each lined in a rich green fabric ideal for storing and protecting delicate items such as jewellery, watches, or precision tools. The top is fitted with a central blank brass plaque, suitable for engraving, and features beautiful oak grain with a warm patina. H: 26 W: 56 D: 43 cm
