Description

This Chemist's Apothecary Chest of Drawers would be a talking point wherever it is placed in the home. Comprising of six free running drawers adorned with their original Latin labels to add further interest. Standing on generously swept bracket feet that add an air of sophistication to a rather simple workmanlike design. This piece makes no attempt to hide its age or years of use and is all the better for it. It would work well in both a traditional or a more contemporary decorative interior style and would make an eye-catching TV stand!
