Description

A superb and elegant set of three French gilt bronze wall lights, dating from circa 1930, beautifully crafted in the Rococo taste. Each wall light is finely cast and richly gilded, featuring scrolling acanthus leaf decoration and graceful curved arms, supporting candle-style light fittings. The central sconce is fitted with two lights, flanked by a matching pair of single-light wall sconces. The flowing lines and ornate detailing give these lights a refined and luxurious appearance, ideal for both traditional and classic interiors. The gilded bronze retains a rich warm patina, enhancing the depth and quality of the casting. These wall lights would make an impressive statement in a hallway, dining room, drawing room, or bedroom, adding both elegance and period charm.
