Description

A Stunning Art Deco Vanity Jar combining crisp cut glass with a vibrant blue guilloché enamel silver lid. The starburst guilloché pattern radiates from a central semicircle, giving the enamel top a hypnotic, almost optical effect when turned in the light. The vivid cerulean blue enamel is both striking and sophisticated, offering a pop of colour with true vintage glamour. The cut glass base features a vertical ribbed design, adding texture and light refraction that complements the precision of the enamel work above. Hallmarked for Birmingham, 1932. *

Compact yet eye-catching, it would have once held powder, cream, or small personal treasures on a lady's dressing table. Today, it serves just as beautifully for jewellery, keepsakes, or as a collector's cabinet gem. Measurements: Height: 2" (approx. 5cm) Diameter: 2 1/2" (approx. 6.5cm) Total weight: 142g Condition is excellent, with the enamel free from chips or hairlines, the glass free from cracks, and the silver showing only minimal signs of age. This piece has clearly been cherished and carefully preserved.
