Description

Antique 20th century small mahogany cabinet, a charming and very desirable piece in a practical and attractive compact size. The cabinet features a raised gallery to the top with a shelf supported by elegant turned pillars, adding both height and decorative interest. To the centre are three drawers, all retaining their original brass handles. The drawer fronts are beautifully framed with satinwood inlay, providing a refined contrast against the rich mahogany. The piece is stood on turned legs, giving it a light and balanced appearance. Displaying gorgeous grain and warm colour throughout, this cabinet is in good condition and very well presented. A lovely example, it would make a perfect addition to any home, ideal for use as an occasional cabinet or bedside piece.
