Description

A superb Edwardian mahogany revolving bookcase in wonderful antique condition. The top is finished with a fine satinwood border, adding a subtle decorative flourish without detracting from the clean simplicity of the design. The two-tier book storage is framed by four vertical splats and set on a smooth-turning cruciform base with casters. Beautifully made and highly practical, it offers generous, easily accessible storage, creating a compact library wherever it's placed. These revolving bookcases work brilliantly in so many settings, and once filled with books they are not only immensely useful but also exceptionally attractive.
