Description

Victorian 9ct Gold Two-Tone Curb Chain Necklace Unmarked | 375 | 16" | 24.1g A Victorian-era curb chain necklace crafted in 9ct gold (375 fineness), featuring an attractive two-tone design. The traditional curb links alternate between yellow and white gold, each polished to a smooth finish to create a refined bi-color appearance. The necklace displays a classic, well-balanced profile with closely interlocking links forming a continuous and fluid line around the neck. The piece is unmarked; while UK legislation permits unhallmarked gold items under one gram, the substantial weight of this necklace indicates that formal hallmarks were not applied at the time of manufacture, a circumstance not uncommon in period jewellery. The necklace secures with a clasp consistent with curb chain designs, likely a spring-ring or lobster-style fastening, ensuring both practicality and wearability. Approximate dimensions and weight: Length: 16 inches Weight: 24.1 grams
