Description

A William and Mary period oak armchair of tall, high-backed proportions, dating to around 1700. The slatted back is surmounted by a pierced scroll crest, above swept open arms and a panelled seat within a framed surround, all raised on turned legs united by a robust stretcher base. A distinctive chair with strong architectural presence, well suited to a hall, study or as an occasional chair beside a fireplace. Very good antique condition with surface wear and patina consistent with age. Historic evidence of woodworm, long gone. Structurally sound, clean and ready to place in the home. English, circa 1700. H: 132 W: 67 D: 51 cm Seat height: 40.5 cm
