Description

A stunning French Art deco circa 1920s diamond ring set in Platinum with taper cut and knife edge shoulders set with fancy French cut natural sapphires and further diamond. Not hallmarked but tests as Platinum. The central diamond spreads 1.80ct, measuring just under 8mm. This has not been out and weight but diamond weight approximately 1.80ct. The diamond is held securely within 6 double prong claws. This diamond is flawless to the naked eye and a stunning white colour, estimated in situ colour G/H and clarity Si1 due to one tiny colourless feather seen with a 20 x loupe only. There are further old cut diamonds to the shoulders, and 4 fancy cut natural sapphires - a mark of superior quality. The ring is a large size currently and GB M 1/2, this can however be resized if required. Rings like this are extremely rare to find, this dates truly to the 1920s, it is of exceptional quality and would make the most fantastic engagement ring. A considerable insurance value.
