Description

An early 20th century industrial Singer machinist's chair with a solid, finely contoured elm seat below an adjustable thick ply backrest, all raised on a tapering heavy cast iron pedestal base marked "SINGER" to each side. The seat swivels to raise or lower height, and locks firmly in position via the wing screw, making it a practical occasional chair with real presence and strong industrial character. A particularly good original example. Very good condition with surface wear and patina to the metalwork consistent with age and use. Structurally sound, clean and ready to place in the home. English, circa 1930. W: 35.5 D: 45 cm Max height: 87 cm Max seat height: 53 cm Min height: 76 cm Min seat height: 42 cm
