Description

A Lovely Pair of Antique Three-Light Candelabra by the renowned British silversmiths Mappin & Webb, featuring ornate Rococo-inspired detailing and removable flame snuffers. These decorative centrepieces exemplify the firm's tradition of refined craftsmanship and timeless design. Each candelabrum is crafted with a baluster-shaped central stem, from which two gently sweeping branches extend, supporting a total of three candle sconces per piece. Where the silver has gently worn, the underlying copper peeks through, lending a rich warmth that only adds to the piece's antique charm. Measurements: Height: 9 1/2" (approx. 24cm) Width: 12" (approx. 30.5cm) Square base: 4" (approx. 10cm) Total weight: 2490g Excellent overall condition. Silver plate retains high polish with some wear through to the copper. All removable sconces and finials present and fit securely.
