Description

An original Archibald Knox designed pewter tankard for Liberty & Co, produced as part of the celebrated Tudric range in the early 20th century. Knox's work for Liberty is now recognised as some of the finest British Arts & Crafts metalware of the period. This example is beautifully restrained – a classic cylindrical form with domed hinged lid and elegant thumbpiece, typical of Knox's refined Celtic-influenced aesthetic. Stamped to the underside with Tudric mark and model number. A superb piece of Liberty metalware – equally at home in a serious Arts & Crafts collection or styled in a contemporary interior. Details: Designer: Archibald Knox Maker: Liberty & Co (Tudric range) Date: circa 1900–1910 Material: Pewter Marked to base Original hinged lid Condition: Good antique condition with honest surface wear consistent with age. No significant dents. Lid hinge functioning well. Dimensions: 18cm x 16cm x 11cm
