Description

This very useful ARTS AND CRAFTS OAK DRESSING MIRROR, with bevelled-edge glass, dates from circa 1900. It is a good height and of sturdy construction with a solid wooden back. It is fitted with four brass mirror plates for securing to a wall. In original condition with a pleasing patina. During its lifetime it has lost a sliver of wood from the bottom right hand edge. Please see close-up photograph. This has coloured down over the years and is not offensive. Height: 57.5 inches (147 cm) Width: 21.25 inches (54.5 cm) Delivery within Mainland UK will be by Private Carrier.
