Description

A refined Royal Worcester bone china cabinet figure depicting a young girl with bowl beside a tree stump. Designed by James Hadley in the late nineteenth century and reissued here in 1954 as model no. 1774, the composition remained one of the factory's most enduring and commercially successful sculptural models. Executed in thin bone china with extensive dead-matte gilding across the dress and base, the figure reflects mid-century decorative taste while preserving Hadley's original pastoral elegance. Such gilt versions were particularly favoured on the post-war export market. Marks to the underside: black printed Royal Worcester factory backstamp introduced in 1951. Above "Made in England" appears the letter W flanked by two dots to the left and two to the right (four dots in total), the Worcester date code for 1954. Impressed model number 1774. Highly desirable as a mid-century gilt reissue of a classic Royal Worcester design. Dimensions: Height 18 cm; width 8.5 cm; depth 8 cm. Weight: 207 g. Condition: Excellent.
