Description

An extremely pretty Portuguese silver cuff bangle with a scalloped profile and alternating panels of black enamel foliage and beautifully detailed raised depictions of corn, ivy, grapes, fruit, flowers and roses. The bracelet is made by Topázio - a heritage luxury jewellery company founded in Portugal in 1874, known for its high-quality silver pieces. SIZE: Internal circumference is approximately seven inches; width 1.8cm. WEIGHT: 34.7g. MATERIALS: 833 fineness silver, enamel. HALLMARKS/STAMPS: Stamped TOPAZIO with Portuguese 833 silver marks. CONDITION: The bracelet is in very good vintage condition; the clasp and hinge are in good working order and the ends snap shut nicely. If you look very closely at the magnified photos you can see light surface wear and a little enamel loss but these are not noticeable in real life and the bracelet looks beautiful and gleaming on the wrist. ERA: Estimated 1950s.
