Description

1940 Cortebert pocket watch, Winegartens Railway Regulator. The watch has a 15 jewel Cortebert 534 stem-winding movement which is working nicely. This same movement was supplied as an ebauche to Rolex, including for their military watches. The watch measures 57mm diameter excluding the winding stem and the loop so slightly larger than a standard 50mm pocket watch. The case is nickel. The back of the watch is signed Winegartens Railway Regulator with an image of a steam engine to the centre. The case is in good condition. The watch has a glass lens. The main face is in good condition. There is some nibbling around the angled edge. The dial is signed Winegartens, 145 Bishopsgate, London EC2. It is in very nice condition with original blued steel hands, a subsidiary seconds dial and outer minute markers. Winegartens was a prestigious London-based jeweller and watch retailer. They traded from the 1930s until the 1990s when they were acquired by the Goldsmiths group. They were renowned for producing their own line of high-quality watches, including "Railway Regulator" pocket watches and various Swiss made wristwatches. The watch comes with a single chain, 35cm l...
