Description

Arts & Crafts Rectangular Copper Wall Mirror with a bevelled edge mirror. The mirror has an ornate copper frame with raised decoration of a coach and horses to the bottom corner and a man in the moon raised decoration to the top corner. Excellent original condition but a small part of the coach drivers whip is missing as seen in the images. Believed to be inspired by the rhyme The man in the Moon came tumbling down and found his way to Norwich. He went by the South and burnt his mouth on eating cold plum porridge
