Description

Hi I have for sale an a1890s French striking and repeating Grand sonnerie carriage clock made in France. The clock case has been fully restored, and the movement has also been fully restored with new springs added and is running strong, keeping time and striking correctly with the repeat button on the top all running via the original, again restored silvered platform. The Case The case is in solid shiny brass and stands 20cm high x 10cm wide with a depth of 10cm it is in original condition with thick 5mm bevelled front/back door and top viewing glass, again all in mint condition. The case is very shiny and hard to photograph; they do not do the clock justice at all. At the base is the lever for silent or quarters, or grand Sonnerie, all working correctly. The Dial The dial is in mint original condition in white porcelain with Arabic numerals; the clock also retains its original, very fine black moon hands. all housed in a stunning chased dial mask. The Movement The movement is an eight-day time and strike which strikes the hours, quarters and halves and three quarters via two blue steel gongs to the rear also has the repeater button on top to repeat the last hour strik...
