Item Reference: SA1199961

Date of manufacture: 1800

Description

A late 18th to early 19th century Italian walnut cabinet with two doors. The piece is both sturdy and refined, highlighted by an elegantly shaped apron at the base and a prominent moulded pagoda-style pediment with a carved keystone at its center. Its versatility allows for use as a kitchen cabinet or, with the doors removed, as a spacious open bookcase. The doors can be completed with glasses or fabric, depending on the use. Please note that this item does not include a lock or key.
