Description

Antique 20th century Edwardian display cabinet in mahogany, a very well made and fine quality example of elegant craftsmanship. The cabinet features a beautiful serpentine shape with glazed front and sides, allowing a clear view of the two interior shelves, perfect for displaying china, collectibles, or decorative items. The front door is glazed and fitted with a key, combining functionality with classic Edwardian style. The piece stands on tapered legs with a base shelf and a small gallery, adding both practicality and decorative appeal. It is beautifully cross-banded throughout and inlaid with satinwood, highlighting the quality of workmanship and adding subtle refinement. The mahogany displays gorgeous grain and rich colour throughout, enhancing the cabinet's warmth and visual character. Presented in great condition, this is a very desirable example that truly has to be seen in person to be fully appreciated. A perfect addition to any home, combining functionality with timeless elegance.
