Description

Made from alternate sycamore and stained alder staves. The bucket's distinctive striped appearance can be traced in Scotland to the 18th century where the tradition of making smaller staved vessels with alternating bands of sycamore and alder or laburnum included quaichs, bickers and marriage cogs. Good usable condition and structurally sound. Missing one lion mask handle. Please let me know if you have any questions. For news and stock updates follow us on Instagram: jeckyllandco
