Description

A Fine and Unusual Cered Oak Sideboard Buffet With Wonderful Brasswear, Attributed to Gaston Poisson French Circa 1940 Undoubtedly made in Paris around 1940, this fine piece was executed in oak of fine timber with the strong figuring of the timber contrasting beautifully with the clean lines of the design itself. The planked and crossbanded top hangs over a broadly rectangular structure with rounded corners on the apron at the base. This combination of curves and straight lines also applies to the decoration used to adorn the piece, notably on the cast handles which employ concentric circles on the back plates and straight line pulls, and of course on the panelled cupboard doors with applied turned roundels, also of concentric circular design. There are four equally-sized drawers in the centre of the piece and then inside each of the cupboards is a single shelf. The edge of these shelves is finely inlaid, creating a sort of geometric camera film pattern, and this use of inlay on shelf fronts is a feature that is particularly associated with the fine designer Gaston Poisson along with the overall unusual design of this sideboard. A very finely executed mid cen...
