Description

A beautiful antique French Louis XV style painted settee sofa, dating from around 1900. This elegant French salon sofa features a finely carved wooden frame with graceful cabriole legs, shaped arms and delicate floral carving typical of the Louis XV period. The frame retains a soft painted finish that enhances the decorative character of the piece. The settee is upholstered in attractive floral needlepoint tapestry upholstery, displaying intricate scrolling patterns and colourful floral motifs across the seat and back. The upholstery is finished with traditional brass stud detailing along the frame. Raised on slender cabriole legs, the settee has elegant proportions and a generous seating width, making it ideal as a decorative antique sofa, French settee or salon seating piece. Pieces of this type are highly sought after for both classic and contemporary interiors, working beautifully in living rooms, bedrooms or hallways. A charming example of antique French seating furniture combining craftsmanship, comfort and timeless Louis XV style. Height: 87 cm Width: 179 cm Depth: 57 cm
