Description

This charming piece is an antique folding cake stand, also known as "tea maid" or "tilting cake plate display stand". Crafted from rich-toned wood, possibly mahogany, the stand features two rectangular tiers for display and serving. The design is not only elegant but also highly practical as it can be folded when not in use, transforming itself in a useful and discreet screen. The slender upright frame is supported by gracefully curved legs, adding a touch of classic charm to any setting.
