Description

A beautiful antique Royal Crown Derby vase in a gorgeous bulbous shape with a narrow neck and flared rim. Painted with an imari inspired pattern, known as the Witches pattern, with alternating panels of mazarine blue, over gilded with a stylised, scrolling vine, and reserving red-centred exotic flowers, and white reserved panels with chrysanthemum types flowers rising from an ornate foliar rosette, painted in iron red and green enamel. The neck is decorated with underglaze blue panels with lozenge and flower shaped reserves and fine gilt decoration. Factory marks to the underside with date cipher for 1907 and the pattern number 6299 painted in red enamel. It measures 10cm (4") high and 9cm (3 1/2") wide. In truly excellent condition with no damage or repair and no discernible handling wear. A really lovely example.
