Description

A charming and practical 19th century mahogany bow front chest of drawers, of compact proportions and attractive form. This elegant piece is constructed in beautifully figured mahogany, displaying warm colour and a pleasing natural grain that has developed a mellow patina through age and use. The chest is arranged with two short drawers above two long graduated drawers, offering useful storage while maintaining balanced proportions. Each drawer is fitted with period oval brass handles and escutcheons, complementing the simple classical design of the piece. The drawers are traditionally constructed with dovetail joints, reflecting the quality craftsmanship typical of the period. The gently bowed front gives the chest a refined and elegant appearance, while also enhancing the figure of the mahogany across the drawer fronts. The sides retain their original rich colour and show the honest wear expected of antique furniture. Raised on splayed bracket feet, the chest has a light and graceful stance that makes it ideal for smaller spaces. Its modest size makes it particularly versatile, suitable for use in a bedroom, hallway, landing or sitting room.
