Description

A 19th Century jewellery cabinet made from Papier Maché. A rather lovely one with dogs hand painted to both front doors and also to the top lid. Inside there are a set of four drawers which slide in and out easily, with each having a pair of turned bone knobs. The tray under the opening top is lined in the original silk and the top drawer is lined with the original velvet. This piece is in its original condition with no restoration, but in good order commensurate with age. Circa 1860. We can deliver free of charge in UK mainland and we can calculate the cost for international delivery. Payment by bank transfer, PayPal or card via telephone.
