Description

A charming antique upholstered French footstool, raised on four carved wooden bun feet. The generously padded seat is covered in decorative needlepoint upholstery featuring repeating floral roundels with stylised roses set within circular medallions on a soft green ground. Bought from a dealer at Les Puces flea market in Paris. The upholstery is finished with an attractive fringe trim incorporating tassels and pom-pom drops in complementary tones of green, pink, and cream, adding movement and texture to the piece. The base is supported on turned and carved dark wood bun feet, giving the stool a traditional English country house character. Compact yet decorative, this piece would work well as a footrest, fireside stool, or small occasional seat, bringing colour and period charm to an interior. Circa 1920. Offered in great shape. Will ship to anywhere in the world - including the US - please get in touch for a shipping quote. Dimensions are in inches (CM): Width x Depth x Height 21 (53.3) x 17 (43.2) x 12 (30.5).
